

Grand Central Recording Studios has built a new VR room. The post-production audio company said that the existing VR audio software tools and system were not producing the sound it wanted, so they built a special studio. The room contains 56 speakers and is a Dolby Atmos Theatrical licensed suite that can be used for 3D and other formats. Grand Central said its new VR room will produce sound according to each intended platform and specific game, experience, or film. — VRFOCUS

